Denver Technology Services & Software including:

VMware - compute Virtualisation VMware ESX Server

Software enables virtualisation of server environments. This means that multiple virtual servers can be configured to run from one physical server platform. This enables better utilization of computing resources, and allows for server consolidation, partitioning of servers and improving server manageability

Linux Migration & High Availability

Denver provides the consultancy to enable clients to migrate their existing server environments to Linux. It is essential for Linux to have the same enterprise tools that traditional operating systems benefit from, and the in recent years the standard of software tools available for Linux has exceeded those tools currently available for the other UNIX platforms

Security (Intrusion Prevention)

Denver are able to provide Intrusion Prevention Software (IPS) - which differs significantly from the popular Intrusion Detection Systems (IDS) used by many businesses in that IPS will prevent an intruder from gaining access to your system.

Server Performance Analysis & Capacity Planning

Providing clients with server performance analysis. The purpose of performance analysis is to understand how server resources are being utilised (CPU, disk utilisation, memory management etc), and to consider how this resource utilisation will be affected by predicted growth in business activities.
